ABOUT PLAYS AND PLAYERS

BY BIDE DUDLEY

Since it was announced in this department that the Columbia Burlesque Circuit was absorbing the interests of the Progressives, its opposition, great strides have been made along that line. It became known yesterday that the Columbia had acquired from the Progressives the following theatres, Trocadero, Philadelphia; Empire, Cleveland; Cadillac, Detroit; Star, Toronto; Englewood, Chicago; Garden, Buffalo, and Savoy, Hamilton, Ont. The Prospect in the Bronx, which housed Progressive burlesque for a while, now has vaudeville furnished by the family department of the United Booking Office. The Haymarket, in Chicago, formerly a Progressive house, has also changed hands.

Eleven burlesque shows, which were on the Progressive "wheel," have been taken over to the Columbia circuit. They are the Monte Carlo Girls, the Moorish Maids, "Hello, Paris!" the Charming Widows, the Tango Girls, the High Life Girls, the Follies of Pleasure, the Mischief Makers, the September Morning Glories, the Fay Fuster troupe and the Passing Review of 1914.

The acquisition by the Columbia of all these interests makes that "wheel" the largest America has known in years.

Marguerite Clark is the latest recruit for the films. She is to be starred in a moving picture production of "Merely Mary Ann" by the Lasky-Lieber interests. In the company also will be Theodore Roberts, J. W. Johnston and Monroe Salisbury.

THIS BRIDE WILL WORK.

Gene Peltier, who was married last week to Leo Stark, a stage manager who is said to be possessor of the title of Baron, isn't going to permit matrimony to interfere with her art. She has been engaged by Lew Fields to play the title role in "Buzi" when Gene Collins may be indisposed.

York to begin a run at a Broadway theatre.

"OUTCAST" CAST COMPLETE.

The cast which will support Elsie Ferguson in "Outcast" has been completed by Charles Frohman, Elmer E. Erianger. It includes Charles Cherry, Marguerite Leslie, Warburton Gumbie, Anne Meredith, Malcolm Fearn, Mabel Archdale and Leslie Palmer. Rehearsals are now in progress. The play will receive its first presentation in Atlantic City and will be brought here in November.

SLIGHTLY IN ERROR.

Burns Mantle and Lawrence J. Anhalt took an office in a building on Forty-second street recently. After they had moved their desks in Mr. Anhalt went out and located a man to put their names on the door. The man went to the office and found Mr. Mantle alone. Taking a piece of paper on which Mr. Anhalt had written the names, from his pocket, he said: "I suppose you want the 'Burns Mantle' in bigger type than the 'Anhalt' don't you?"

PIGEON AT ROSE GARDENS.

Edward Everett Pidgeon, whose popularity in the Broadway district is only exceeded by his knowledge of correct sartorial adornment, has acquired an interest in the Broadway Rose Gardens, and hereafter the theatre, cafe and ballroom will be under his personal supervision. Mr. Pidgeon is a pioneer in the management of dancing, dining and vaudeville de luxe. He was the first manager of the Jardin de Danse and, he later lent his efforts to make the new $2,000,000 Garden pier of the Earle-Mastbaum Syndicate at Atlantic City a success. Recently he has been field manager for William Fox, the latter releasing him in order that he might take up his new duties.

"RIP" IN FILMS.

Thomas Jefferson, son of the late Joseph Jefferson, has signed a contract to play the title role in "Rip Van Winkle" for the R. A. Rolfe Company. The play will be presented publicly on Nov. 8 as a part of the Alcoa programme. The pictures will be taken in the Catskills.

"Yes," said Adolph Klaber yesterday, "I'm a great baseball fan. However, I seldom go to a game." "Are you interested in the World's Series?" he was asked. "You bet I am." "Who do you think will win?" "Oh, I think the Giants will beat the Yanks easily," he said.

GOSSIP.

Josephine Victor is to appear in "Kick In."

Gertrude Quinlan has gone to Boston to attend the funeral of her father. The next attraction at the Hudson Theatre will be Rose Stahl in "A Perfect Lady."

Jim Curran, the best bill poster Denver ever had, is a New York visitor. He just ran down to hear Ed Gehrue's latest crop of stories.

Manuel Quiroga, the Spanish violinist, arrived from Europe yesterday on the Hochambau. He will make his American debut at the Hippodrome Sunday evening.

Wade Davis is to stage his musical play, "The College Hero," the latter half of this week at the Majestic Theatre, Erie, Pa., for the benefit of the Erie Infants' Home. More than 700 amateurs will participate.

Fred Meek is back in town. He has been succeeded as company manager of "Sari" by Arthur Phinney. Mr. Meek has other plans.

It has been definitely decided that the Forty-fourth Street Theatre will open with the Andrea Dippel Opera Company on Oct. 28. Sidney Ellison, from the Gaiety, London, is directing the rehearsals of "The Lady Domino," the initial piece.

Mina Viarda, who recently arrived in America from the war zone of Europe, has begun rehearsing "The Bride of Messina." In this play six men are executed in the final act.

A. H. Woods has postponed the New York opening of "Kick In" at the Longacre Theatre until next Monday evening. The production will open in Atlantic City three days before coming to New York.

J. Harry Bonrino, who staged "Consequences," has cancelled his return passage to Europe and will remain in New York indefinitely to produce plays for the Messrs. Shubert.

Bettina Freeman, dramatic soprano of the Century Opera Company, believes in psychic power. Yesterday, in the presence of several of her friends, she said she was studying clairvoyance.

"Why not become a medium?" somebody said. "Then you could tell before hand whether you were going to succeed in a role. You could also tell whether other prima donnas were due to succeed or fail."

Miss Freeman smiled. "A prima donna doesn't have to be a clairvoyant to tell whether others of her kind are to succeed or fail," she said.

If You'd Be Rich, Have Your Conscience Amputated, Is Lesson That Is Taught by "The Money Makers"

It's a Simple Operation for Some People and It Enables Them to Enjoy Wealth That Would Otherwise Bring Heart Pangs.

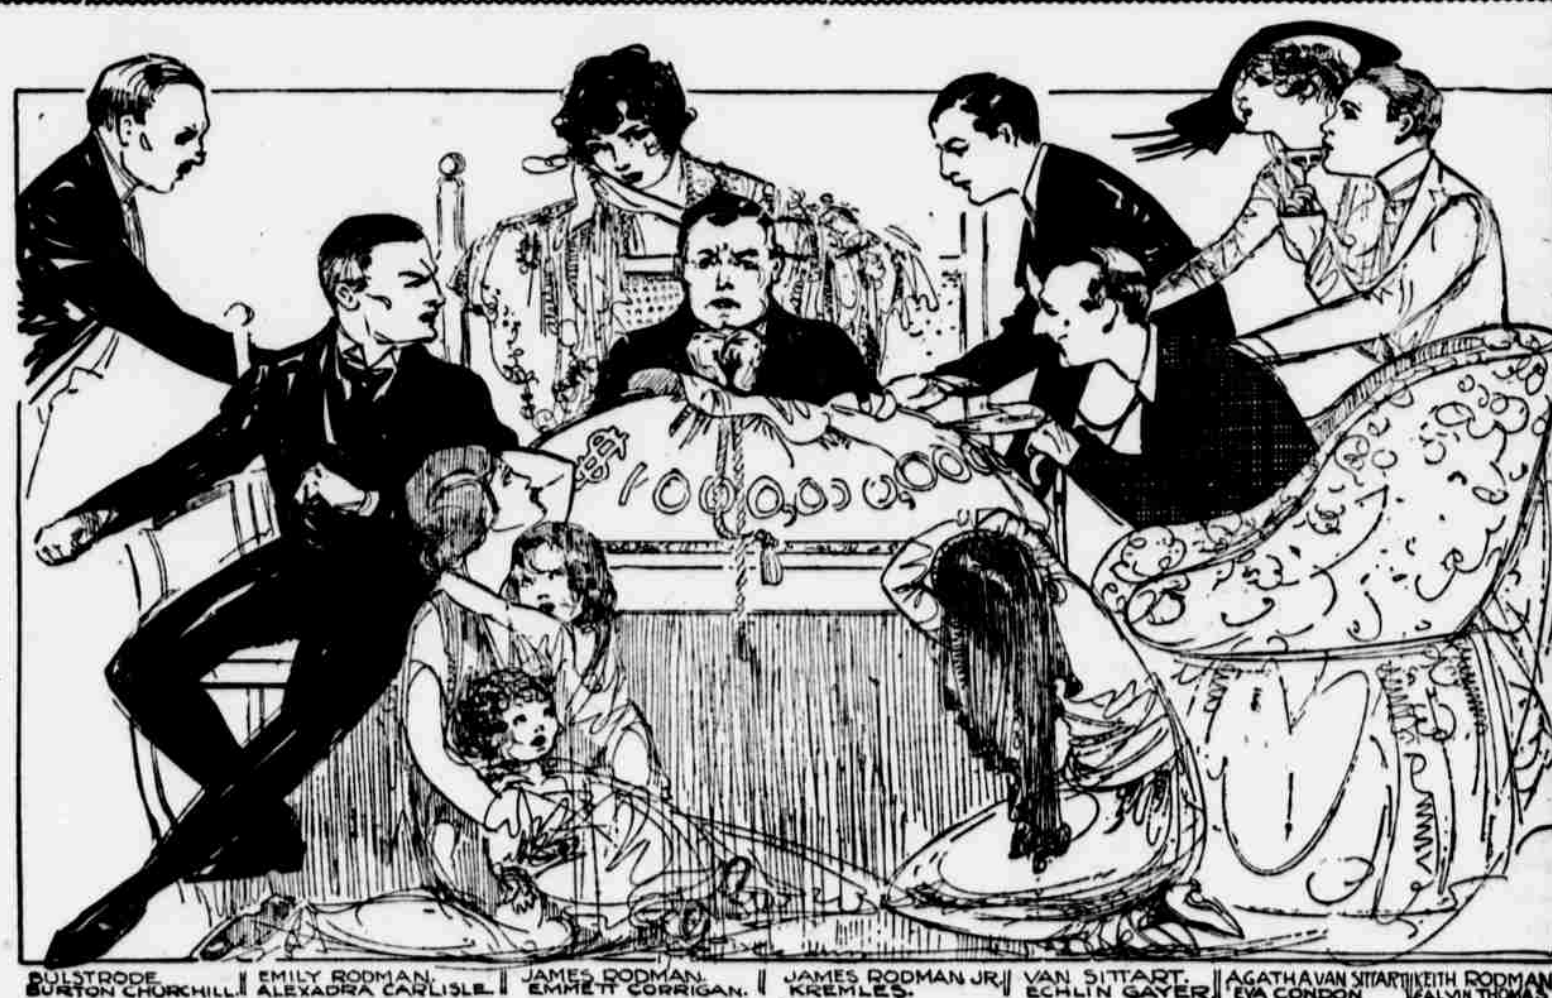

Charles Klein's Latest Success Proves That It Doesn't Pay to Mix Silver Spoons and Pewter Dishes.

It is really not worth while, take it from "The Money Makers" at the Booth Theatre, to aspire to be a very rich man unless you have your conscience cut out. Just pick out a neat and expensive hospital, secure the services of the most competent moral specialists and have your conscience removed just like our best people are being separated from their appendages.

If you overlook this simple precaution your will never be a very rich man and happy.

But supposing you don't care to have your conscience cut out and still aspire to be a very rich man? Go to see "The Money Makers" and find out what will happen to you. The rich Mr. James Rodman, at present exhibiting himself at the Booth Theatre, got off easy; all he lost was the filial affections of a perfectly valueless elder son. And that didn't amount to much when the acid test was applied. Yet Mr. Rodman's experience after taking the conscience cure should be a warning to all world's series ticket speculators, manufacturers of fashionable millinery and others on the high road to financial muchness.

It's one thing to have a glorious, altruistic idea about returning the widow's mite in the form of watered railroad stock put through the wringer. But it's an entirely different thing to face a chair-car ticket to an insane asylum for doing this repentant act. So easy, you know, to railroad a man to a place called by courtesy a "sanitarium" when you have a couple of his enraged business associates, a high-priced lawyer and two of the well known nerve specialists who testify for money to aid you. Doesn't it stand to reason that anybody who gives his money away is "barmy" for fair? Easy case!

So thought young Mr. James Rodman Jr. until he found himself opposed by a woman. "Stepmom" is the only thing that saves the very rich man in "The Money Makers" from being sent to a place where the guests put shells on hickory nuts all day long. Of course, when you first make her acquaintance you have a well-grounded suspicion that she is going to decorate her elderly and none too loving husband with the iron cross. All signs point that way; one of the signs is a dashing young man with the latest cut to his collar and hair brushed back in a cow lick. But that sign fades when the stepmother to the happy Rodman family decides that a cold deck is being forced on her worthy, though very rich husband, and sits into the game.

One conviction the observer of James Rodman's sorrows must take away with him—it doesn't pay to take a growing family off the oatmeal in a simple pewter dish diet. The trouble with James Rodman's family is that they all bit their silver spoons so hard they got squared jaws and came to consider Dad as a member of the Society of People to Be Done Without. His money was green and pleasant, but his paternal affection was a luxury that could readily be done without by the family.

So, you see, two things are necessary to full enjoyment of great wealth—the amputation of the conscience and the elimination of one's family in
